PRICE LIST.

with Full Details, to be had on Application.
PORT after removal should be dated a month before use. When required for drinking it once it should be ordered to be decanted at the Dispensary before being sent out.

SHERRY.—Excellent Dinner and After Dinner Wines of very superior Vintage. All are true Xeres Wines.

CLARET.—Our Clarets, including the lowest priced, are guaranteed to be the genuine product of the juice of the grape and are not artificially made from raisins and currents,
as is generally the case with Cheap Wines.

BRANDY.—All our Brandy is guaranteed to be pure Cognac, the difference in price being merely a question of age and vintage.

WHISKY.—All our Whisky is of excellent quality and of greater age than most brands
in the market. The Scotch Whisky marked "E" is universally popular, and is pronounced by the best local connoisseurs to be superior to any other brand in the Hongkong market.

We only guarantee our WINES and SPIRITS to be genuine when bought direct from us in the Colony or from our authorized Agents at the Coast Ports.

RE THE CHINESE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

We publish in another column a letter from
Mr. Ho Axi, written in reply to the joint note of the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai and
Mr. Wei Yux. We feel inclined to agree with Mr. Axi in many of his strictures
upon the communication published in this
journal last Saturday, and by our contemporaries signed by two of the Trustees of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce.
We believe that the only report of the proceedings at the opening of the Chamber,
appeared in this paper. The Daily Press
and China Mail made no reference to the proceedings. So far as we can learn there was nothing that occurred at the opening by Mr. Ho Axi of the Institution of which he is President to which anyone, simply as a British subject, could object. For a man of scientific education there were many things objectionable. No professing Christian could have taken part in the ceremony without violating his conscience.
No musician would probably have cared
to linger long within earshot of the Chinese musical accompaniment. There were many things omitted which, doubtless,
Dr. Ho Kai and his friend would like to have seen done. His Excellency the Governor might have been asked to preside on the occasion, and the members of the European Chamber of Commerce might have been asked to fraternize, with, and
drink success to, an institution from which
they will doubtless, in time, receive considerable assistance. As the ground upon which the institution is erected was given to
the Chinese community by the Government without payment of premium, and practically rent free, some representative of the Government might not unreasonably have been invited to take part in the opening ceremony. Put in deciding if they did so decide, not to ask any Europeans to be present the Chinese were guilty of no
breach of duty to the Colony or the Crown. The building is for the use of all the Chinese merchants and traders resident in Hongkong, whether British subjects or not, and the managers of the institution were perfectly within their right to confine the invitations to those only who would care to be present at a Chinese religious ceremonial. We should be glad to learn from Dr. Ho Kai and Mr. Wei Yux, or either of them, what it was that was said or done at the opening ceremonials to which they objected, and object. If there was any manifestation of disloyalty to the Government of the Colony, any expression of hatred or dislike towards the British Government or British Institutions, any open indication of an intention to make use of the institution to oppose British interests, or resist the progress of legislation, we will, if information is given us on the authority of either of the writers of the letter in question, give the fullest publicity to the fact, and we will urge upon the Government the expediency of a prompt and vigorous investigation. We are prepared to support the Government to the fullest extent in checking and punishing among the Chinese any seditious manifestations, whatever that go beyond the expression of opinion. Freedom of opinion and freedom of speech, we shall always stand up for, over acts, we makes certain statements, with reference to Dr. Ho Kai, and gives certain explanations. We shall be very glad to learn from the Honorable Members whether these explanations are correct, and these statements true. The publication of these statements is a necessary part of the duty of the press.

RE THE CHINESE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

We publish in another column a letter from
Mr. Ho Axi, written in reply to the joint note of the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai and
Mr. Wei Yux. We feel inclined to agree
with Mr. Axi in many of his strictures
upon the communication published in this
journal last Saturday, and by our contemporaries signed by two of the Trustees of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce.
We believe that the only report of the proceedings at the opening of the Chamber,
appeared in this paper. The Daily Press
and China Mail made no reference to the proceedings. So far as we can learn there
was nothing that occurred at the opening by
Mr. Ho Axi of the Institution of which he is President to which anyone, simply as a British subject, could object. For a man
of scientific education there were many
things objectionable. No professing Christian could have taken part in the ceremony without violating his conscience.
No musician would probably have cared
to linger long within earshot of the Chinese musical accompaniment. There were many things omitted which, doubtless,
Dr. Ho Kai and his friend would like to have seen done. His Excellency the Governor might have been asked to
preside on the occasion, and the members of
the European Chamber of Commerce might
have been asked to fraternize, with, and
drink success to, an institution from which
they will doubtless, in time, receive considerable assistance. As the ground upon
which the institution is erected was given to
the Chinese community by the Government without payment of premium, and practically rent free, some representative of the Government might not unreasonably have been invited to take part in the opening ceremony. Put in deciding if they did so
decide, not to ask any Europeans to be
present the Chinese were guilty of no
breach of duty to

RE THE CHINESE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph,"
Sir, I am quite surprised at the letter signed by Messrs Ho Kai and Wei Yuk which appeared in your issue of Saturday last, the 18th instant, and also appeared in the other local English papers of Saturday last and this morning.
I am at a loss to know the reason why they made such statements. As Joint Trustees of the Institution, why did they not tell the public the precise reasons why they have not taken a hand in making the arrangements for its opening? why did they not take any part in the ceremonies, why they were not present on that special occasion, why they ignored their Chinese origin and parentage by styling themselves British subjects, and why they would not countenance the proceedings as reported, whether they have or have not at any time observed and countenanced the Chinese ceremonies due to their deceased parents in the Chinese fashion?

If they want to exonerate themselves from any blame that might have been cast upon them with reference to the opening ceremonies in connection with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, I think they should speak plainly and not expose themselves to the ridicule of the public by such a letter.

As the Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, I do not endorse the statements made by Messrs Ho Kai and Wei Yuk, and since they have chosen to exonerate themselves publicly in any way they have done I think it my duty to express publicly my opinion regarding the ceremonies.

Finally, as the site of the Chamber of Commerce was generously granted by Her Majesty's Government to the Chinese, the foundation stone ought to have been laid by His Excellency the Governor. I requested Mr. Ho Kai at the time to see His Excellency and ask whether His Excellency would be pleased and would condescend to do us the honor to lay the foundation stone. To this Mr. Ho Kai replied that it was not necessary because the site was granted for the occasion, but that when the Chamber was completed His Excellency could be asked to be present at the opening ceremony. I acquiesced.

Secondly, when the Chamber was completed and the ceremony for the opening day was fixed, the form of Chinese invitation cards drafted by myself was submitted to Mr. Ho Kai and Mr. Wei Yuk for approval. At the same time I requested Mr. Ho Kai to call upon His Excellency the Governor and ask His Excellency to do us the pleasure and honor of being present at the ceremony, and if His Excellency consented to the request then Mr. Ho Kai was to draft the English cards of invitation for His Excellency and the heads of the Civil and Military Departments and also for the Unofficial Members of the Legislative Council as well as other notables of the foreign communities and the representatives of the local papers to be present at the opening ceremony and at the banquet afterwards in the evening. But Mr. Ho Kai told me that, as the Chinese ceremony was going to take the form of worshipping the gods of Wealth, etc., it would not be convenient and interesting to His Excellency the Governor and the foreign community to be present while the ceremony was going on in the Chinese fashion. I replied that I thought it would be a failing on our part not to ask His Excellency the Governor to be present at the opening ceremony, since we had not asked him to lay the foundation stone. Mr. Ho Kai said it was all right. I have already told Mr. Lochart that at the opening ceremony, and sometime after the Chinese New Year, the Committee intend giving a banquet when His Excellency the Governor, as well as the heads of the different departments and the foreign communities can be invited. His Excellency would then be asked to make an opening speech which we could reply thereto.

Now, in the face of the facts as above stated, I ask if I have failed in my duties as the Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce? And to move to vote that it was my intention to ask His Excellency the Governor to be present at the opening ceremony. I enclose herewith the draft speech which I intended to make at the opening ceremony.

With reference to the leading article of the Daily Press this morning I think it necessary for the information of the general public and for the interest of the Chamber to state that it has never been my intention nor that of the members to make use of the Chamber as a semi-political club opposed to British influence.

The business of the Chamber will be purely commercial, having for its sole object the promotion of the commercial interests of this Colony and nothing else, its regulations having already been submitted to and approved of by the Government. Owing to the hostile feeling of some of my colleagues I have already expressed my desire to resign my position as President, and my resignation will be tendered at a meeting to be held in the early part of the year.

As regards Colonel Chun's presence at the opening ceremony, I may mention that it was not intended as an insult to the Government, the Colonel himself being a subscriber and having come over of his own accord to take part in the ceremony as such.

It was my intention to make a speech (the one above referred to) at the dedication of the Chamber, giving therein the whole history of the Institution.

Yours faithfully,

HO AMEI.

SHANGHAI NOTES.

[China Gazette, January 13th.]

CAPTURE OF THE MAHOMMEDAN LEADER.
An Imperial Decree, issued on the 10th instant, contains a report from General Tung Fah-chang, stating that he had succeeded in capturing Mo Yuen-lin, who, with his son, started the Mahomedan Rebellion by collecting several thousand men who raised the standard of revolt against the Imperial authority in the early part of last year. Mo, with his son and a hundred followers, is now a prisoner awaiting punishment, and General Tung adds that he is hunting for the other leaders.

On the same day another decree was issued in response to a report of Viceroy Yang, of the Shen-kan provinces, authorizing the dismissal of General Li Ping-yang for gross failure of duty in neglecting to attack the rebels in Kansu. This violent general is accused of spending his time in opium smoking instead of dispersing the rebels. He is not only dismissed from his post, but ordered to be put out of the camp.

THE JAPANESE IN CHUNGKING.

Chungking, 10th January.
The Japanese Commercial Mission which left Shanghai some weeks ago for Chungking arrived here on the 28th ult., all well. They remained here ten days; they then started to return to your port. There has been no trouble and the report about their being molested is untrue.
We are glad to find that to-day we received a message from the Japanese Consulate-General confirming the above news, so that the report from the river ports about the Japanese mission having been maltreated and some of its members killed appears to have been incorrect.

[North China Daily News 15th January.]

Only nine names having been sent in, the Municipal Council for 1895 is elected without the necessity of a ballot. It is a decidedly strong Council, and the Community will hear with great pleasure that Mr. Scott is willing to take the Chairmanship for another year. The nine gentlemen elected are Messrs: C. Beermann, D. Brand, J. Cooper, J. S. Fearon, W. D. Little, J. H. McMichael, A. P. McEwen, D. M. Moss, and J. L. Scott.

Wang Chih-chuan, Provincial Treasurer of Hupoh, who returned last summer from a special embassy to Russia, has been telegraphed for from Wuchang by the Emperor to go up to Peking at once. It is reported that his Excellency is about to be again appointed to Russia, this time as Plenipotentiary for three years.

CHENG TU NOTES.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Chengtu, December 19th.

THE AMERICAN COMMISSION.

The American Commission entered this city on the afternoon of the 15th with a retinue of 100 men including chair-bearers, coolies, escort and troops sent from the city to meet them. They were escorted to the place prepared for them on the Yeh Shing Hang. These premises were lately occupied by the French Bishop while acting as commissioner, and had been rented for by the French Government. They were waited on by the French Consul, and the chiefs of the leading provincial officials were presented. A dinner had been especially prepared for them.

The next day new chairs were presented them, and they called on the Viceroy General, the Viceroy, the Provincial Treasurer and Judge. The latter, who it is thought will be appointed to act with the Commission, immediately returned the call, and the others, excepting the Viceroy, who is sick and rose from his bed to receive them, called the next day. They also called on the General and Foreign Offices and the Taotai, who promptly returned the call. At every yamen from the Viceroy's down they have been received with vice-regal honours; nothing unpleasant has occurred and everything seems to have been done by the various officials to make the Commission feel that it is welcome.

The people follow the leaders, and though curious are friendly and so far as we can learn are favourably impressed with the Commission. Certainly their fear of the Commission has been a great improvement. The most of the higher officials have made a favourable impression on the Commission, and it looks as though they were prepared to yield anything reasonable and to place no obstacles in the way of a speedy settlement. The Commission has not yet commenced its sittings but while keeping its own counsel is evidently determined to see that the officials shall do full justice, and that their tolerance journey of 70 days shall not be in vain. I hope they will find the public with an amount of that courtesy. It is hard work when one must rise at 5.30, go out and start, travel till night and then rest in Chinese quarters at night.

They report a favourable reception most of the way, but in Sigan, the capital of Shenai province, they were greeted by the cry of—"Foreign Devils" even at the door of the Viceroy's yamen. When their departure the Viceroy came out to escort them to their chairs all was quiet, but as he had gone in the whole mob began to howl and yell.

They report that after entering this province an especial effort seemed to have been made by all of the local officials and an especially friendly spirit to characterize the people, and the completeness of the preparations for their comfort while staying in the capital surpassed all their anticipations.

There does not seem to be much other news. The Methodist Episcopal Mission has bought the property adjoining their old place, but will rebuild on the old site next year. The C.I.M. has rented new and commodious quarters, and Dr. Hart and Mr. Hartwell of the Canadian Methodist Mission, are on their way to the city—Mercury.

THE LATE OUTRAGES IN KOREA.

(BY A KOREAN.)

All statements agree that no proof to the contrary has been produced, that on the 8th of October, 1895, a number of Koreans and Japanese under the guard of Japanese troops attacked the Palace and seized and literally butchered in her own apartments the Queen of Korea, or a lady who they were sure was Her Majesty. This foul crime aroused the horror and indignation of Koreans and foreigners alike.

The representatives of certain Powers, the United States, Germany, France, and Russia, and, as it is stated in the Mercury, Japan threw dust into the eyes of the world by banding in the shape of an investigating commission, arresting Miura and others implicated in the murder, and by despatching a high Envoy of Condolence. Much hope was entertained that Count Inouye would help the King to punish the perpetrators of the crime. But he did nothing of the kind, on the pretext that Japan could not interfere with Korean politics. A constant excuse, that an uninvited Korean falls to see the fairness of Japan which interfered with Korean politics when the Queen was to be murdered but refuses to interfere when the King is to be helped and justice to be done.

To such a gentleman as the Editor of the Japan Mail, hailing from Christian England and enjoying the golden opinion, or rather support, of "civilized" or "enlightened" Japan, it is simply a matter of common judgment. But it is a crime in the humble opinion of "barbarous" Koreans. The government, relying on the support of Japan, showed no sign of satisfying the popular demand for justice. The soldiers formerly belonging to the Palace Guard, led by certain royalists, attempted to take the matter into their own hands on the 21st of November in order to help the King to punish the murderers of the Queen. But the effort failed.

It is noticeable that the Sani News, a Japanese paper which did not say a single word concerning the parties who attacked the Palace on the 8th of October, is burning with wrath and indignation and rage against those who tried to help the King on the 21st of November. Nor is this all. The government, which in three long months has not punished a single criminal connected with the murder of the Queen, is showing an astonishing degree of zeal and zeal in arresting and punishing the more recent offenders. The Japanese paper seems to take the pleasure in spreading the rumour that the late event was concocted and countenanced by Japanese. No doubt Japan would be very happy if these rumours could be substantiated.

In 1894, Kim Ok-kin and his party tried to overthrow the government in the hope of destroying Chinese influence. The rash attempt only ended in strengthening the Chinese grip on Korea. In October of this year, Japan, jealous of the growing influence of Russia, sought to weaken it by murdering the Queen. But this very deed has incited Koreans more favourably towards Russia than any act on the part of Japan could ever have done. Between Korea and Japan there is now an impassable gulf flowing with a dark stream of distrust and prejudice, and purple with the blood of the Queen of Korea—Chung Daily News.

NORTH BORNEO NOTES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Sandakan, January 18th.

Perhaps the most interesting social event lately has been the marriage of the manager of the Darvel Bui Plantations Company to the daughter of the gentleman who is prospecting for gold. The entire length of the pier, at least half a mile long, at Labat Date was covered with red cloth and an avenue made of palm leaves held aloft by javanese gaily clad to red and white, down which the bride walked, supported by the groom, Mr. Eiton, who had accompanied her from Sandakan in the Belgian steamer, to the nuptial knot. Festivities were continued amidst a flow of champagne until the small hours of the following morning, the cutting of the bride's cake being a special feature of the proceedings. As a matter of fact there were a good many cakes, a sort of competition having been instituted in Sandakan amongst the cooks as to who could make the best, and it is understood that all received prizes, no blinks being heard of. The marriage was, in fact, a grand affair, the most showy ever celebrated in North Borneo.

There have been floods on one or two tobacco estates, a good deal of damage being the result. The Kinabatangan has once more scored a "best on record" for the twelfth or twenty-first time, the water, it is said, having been at least two feet higher than ever before in some parts of the district. This illustrates the main weak spot in tobacco cultivation. During the 18 months that elapsed from the time each season's operations commenced until the crop is on the market, it is exposed to an exceptional degree to accidents and drawbacks of all sorts and kinds—accidents and drawbacks which would not greatly damage or interfere with other cultivations, but which are fatal, or nearly so, to tobacco. It was indeed unfortunate that this staple should have been the one upon which the British North Borneo Co. should have staked almost everything, including the immediate future of the country, although there were so many safer more profitable products that offered themselves. However, it is now a question whether matters will not all be beginning to arrive at the truth by hard experience. The number of fields on the Kinabatangan for 1896 will be about 700, and below this it is hardly ever likely to go. One of the large companies elsewhere in the colony it is possible may go under altogether, but most of the others may increase instead of diminish the area of their operations, always presuming that prices keep at their present level—but will they? That is not the question, who say that production is on the verge of a steady increase, which will result in an over-supply, in which case the usual consequences will inevitably follow. Should this prove true it is hard to say what will become of the tobacco industry in British North Borneo, so that it well we are at last beginning to have other products to fall back upon.

As tobacco planting declines that of other and more permanent products increases. In place of the lost 400 tobacco fields about on the Kinabatangan some 300 acres are being laid out for coffee on the Byie Estate, while the felling is in progress, and 300 acres of Manilla hemp are in evidence at Loong Pisang. The planting of coffee and sugarcane on a fairly large scale on the Kinabatangan has been taken in hand at Labat Date, 200 acres are being used for coconuts and at many other places cultivations of different sorts are being inaugurated. In addition to this we hope to see sugar commenced shortly in a large and proper manner, with a big crusher, and when once this begins to be worked in Sandakan its chief supply of raw sugar.

The difficulties in connection with laying the telegraph across country are greater than were anticipated. It is now found that some 80 or 90 miles in the centre of the country is uninhabited forest, through which it is necessary that a fair road be made before the line can be laid, and as there are no supplies to be obtained and everything has to be conveyed across country, the expense is likely to be very heavy—something approaching $40,000 for the part of the line alone—and the question arises—where is the money to come from, and could it not have been spent to better advantage in other ways? Meanwhile, the new Customs Tariff is being put into force with great stringency, the Chinese passengers having even to pay duty on their clothes, at which there is great grumbling and discontent, while it is said that the duty on rice is causing a decline in the imports, the natives being more apt to live on their own produce. Other causes, however, such as the effect of the tobacco cultivation, may partly account for the falling off.

On the whole the year leaves us with a rather bad taste in our mouths. Increased taxation, declining trade, the direction of the country more and more undertaken by the London office, where no one seems to understand the needs of Borneo; good men sent to isolated districts where they get ill, and all sorts of wild schemes are being projected, no attention given to the true resources of the country; money spent like water on practically useless works—grumbling and discontent everywhere, and the government by the Chartered Company is anything but favour.

THE SO-CALLED MASSACRE.
[British North Borneo Herald, 16th Dec., 1895.]
Referring to the sensational account published by the China Mail of the "Massacre of Manilla Descenders" and since copied into other journals, we have made enquiries and the following information has been given us on the best authority:—

(1) At the time the descenders (who were also mountaineers) were come up with, they had forcibly taken goods from the people, threatening those who objected, and the natives were in a state of alarm and excitement while the mountaineers were threatening to attack Rajah Tuh's village.

(2) It is absolutely false that any terms were promised them: they were ordered to surrender unconditionally or they would be attacked. When they arrived (about daylight) they were ordered to stop and were informed that they would be surrendered to the Spanish authorities, and the Spanish officer was told he could take them. As soon as the mountaineers saw the Spaniards they bolted, the soldiers ran up and seized some, and, after calling upon the others to stop, fired on them.

(3) The statement that the Dyak Police slashed off the wounded is absolutely false, as they were attended to by the doctor of the gunboat and then put in boats and taken off to the ship.

(4) The statement that firing was kept up for an hour is false; the whole affair was over in a few minutes. Some of the Spaniards were excited at the noise, ran up and fired, but were stopped as quickly as possible, and before they had fired more than a few shots.

(5) The Spaniards were 4 men and 2 women who had been carried off by the mountaineers; one was the wife of the Spanish Captain. This woman had been carried off by the single descender, after he had murdered the Captain before her eyes. These people were wanted to give evidence at the trial of the descenders, and so were taken to go on board the gunboat.

(6) None of the mountaineers would have been hurt if they had not resisted arrest.

(7) The alleged condition of the bodies is wholly imaginary.

THE INTERNATIONAL TELEGRAPH VOCABULARY.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

London, January 18th.

The following letter, which speaks for thousands, was read at a meeting of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce on the 15th instant.

Hongkong, 6th January, 1896.
Dear Sir, Enclosed I beg to hand you a copy of a letter from the General Post Office Authorities, London, informing the Chamber that the Joint Petition against the proposed introduction of the International Telegraph Vocabulary in Extra-European telegrams, has been received by the Post Office. The letter is signed by the Director of the International Telegraph Bureau to the London Post Office Authorities. It is promised that the petition will receive alternative consideration at the hands of the Post Office Authorities with, it is to be hoped, satisfactory results.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours obediently,
F. HENDERSON,
Secretary.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, SHANGHAI.

General Post Office, London,

1st November, 1895.

Sir, The Director of the International Telegraph Bureau at Bern has forwarded to this Department the memorial from the Chambers of Commerce at Hongkong, Canton, Shanghai, Hankow, Tientsin, Yokohama, Kobe, Foochow, and Amoy, objecting to the proposed use of the Official Vocabulary in Extra-European telegrams.

At the same time he has pointed out that the International Bureau has no authority to take official cognisance of any representation excepting such as proceed from one of the countries of the Union.

Having regard to the length of time which must elapse before a reply could be received from the Chambers of Commerce concerned, this Department has thought that it would best be carrying out their wishes if it were at once to accept the memorial, with a view to its receiving attentive consideration along with the memorials on the same subject which have been sent by other Chambers direct to this office.

I trust that in the circumstances the course which this Department has adopted will meet with the approval of the Chambers of Commerce of the Far East.

I am, Sir,
Yours obedient servant,
J. C. LAMB.

THE CHAIRMAN, Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce.

NEWS BY THE AMERICAN MAIL.

The following telegrams from our San Francisco exchange were "crowded out" of last Saturday night's issue:—

[London, December 16th.]

Telegrams from Odessa reporting the capture of the Russian Black Sea fleet and the making of it ready for any emergency, lend interest to an interview that is published here with an English engineer who has long been supervising Russian war-ships in the Black Sea. When asked why Russia was obliged to employ a large number of English engineers, he said that the Russians do not know their work. "They spoil work machinery, are unable to make repairs and allow the sea-going navy to run." He added that "if the Russian navy had really to fight, it would be placed in the hands of the English, and the machinery of which they have charge. The Black Sea fleet is rotting for want of paint. The officers steal the money that is supposed to be expended for paint, and the bottoms of the ships are badly corroded. The water of the Black Sea has a peculiar corroding action on copper. The vessels ought to be painted periodically, but as a matter of fact they are seldom so treated. It takes four years to fit out a Russian ship after she is delivered, and the Russians are so slow and such thieves, and it is nobody's interest to hurry. The Black Sea fleet is formidable only on paper, and it is not fit to go anywhere."

December 16th.

The Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs this afternoon that he is in a position to state that M. Faure, President of the French Republic, will resign before March. He adds that a fresh scandal has been unearthed in connection with the President's family, but there is not an article among them which does not distil the venom of calumny.

The correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette also says:—"Daily hundreds of newspapers express disgust at the campaign of slanders, but there is not an article among them which does not distil the venom of calumny."

The Pall Mall Gazette intimates that the secret fund of 20,000 francs, which the Elysée Palace expended upon the press, was not widely distributed.

A special from Moscow reports a conspiracy against the life of the Czar has been unmasked there. Another dispatch says a number of the bombs have been seized and several men and women, including prominent nihilist leaders, arrested in connection with the plot.

WASHINGTON, December 16th.
The Senate was in session about two hours to-day, half of that time being given to Stewart of Nevada in a vigorous assault on the gold standard. A new phase of the anti-gold speech, his name has been so closely identified in Senate speeches. He urged that the great depreciation of silver gave to the cheap labour of Asia a tremendous advantage in competing with the domestic products of the American market. Japan, he particularly, he said, was profiting by this difference of 50 per cent. between our money and that of Japan, and Japanese merchants were thereby making enormous profits. Stewart in many lines of goods. During Mr. Stewart's speech Mr. Maier, secretary of the Japanese Legation, was an attentive listener in the diplomatic gallery.

LONDON, December 16th.
The Times, commenting on Cleveland's message to Congress on the financial situation, will say to-morrow:—
The President's second message is almost as remarkable in its own way as his first. With a full knowledge of the state of the nation, and of the state of the world, he has originated in precisely the tone that would be appropriate to the discussion of a calamity due to causes beyond human control. It is doubtful from the terms of the message whether he now wishes it to be understood that his Venezuelan policy was designed simply to give an object lesson in finance, or whether he merely turns to account a catastrophe that he did not foresee.

In its issue to-morrow the Standard will mention a rumour that the Rothschilds will immediately withdraw £5,000,000 from the United States. "Not only are investors in railroad stocks selling, but large speculations for a fall are being entered into. It is not that war is expected, but the transactions are being made through fear that negotiations between Great Britain and the United States will be protracted." At the same time operations are being in mind the currency position in the United States, and have no desire to hold railroad bonds.

ST. PETERSBURG, December 16th.
Despatches from St. Petersburg relate the particulars of a singular catastrophe which happened in the horrible domain of these persons. While a passenger train on the Moscow Railway was running at a high rate of speed the carriage in which Count Colville was travelling with his wife and two children caught fire. The flames spread so rapidly that the Countess and her two children were unable to escape, and they were burned to death.

New York, December 16th.
The answer to the libel suit of Frank H. Keyes of Washington, a director of the Chicago Associated Press, against the New York Sun, was filed in the United States Circuit Court to-day. The article complained of by the plaintiff charged the Chicago Associated Press with deceiving its patrons and the public, and accused Keyes of being a party to the fraud and deceit. The defendant declares that the facts alleged in the article are true and demands judgment that the complaint be dismissed with costs.

The British bark Delphinus, which yesterday arrived from Santa Cruz, passed in latitude 37 degrees 22 minutes, longitude 73 degrees 4 minutes, on December 15, a topall yard of a large vessel projecting from the water and apparently attached to a sunken wreck. In the vicinity of the spar was a quantity of timber, painted cable fittings and a number of cork jackets.

It is a possibility that this is the wreckage of the Atlas liner Claribel, which left Kingston on December 1st for this port. She was spoken by the Pacific Mail steamer Newport on Friday last off the Carolina coast. The Claribel was disabled and took a line from the Newport. Later she cast off and signalled "good-by." That was during a heavy gale. She has not been heard from since. The Claribel was commanded by Captain Cote. She was of 880 tons register.

A Washington, D. C., dispatch to the Tribune says that a report is current particularly among officers of the military and naval services, that there are in the State Department confidential documents which are in the nature of a secret treaty with Russia, under the terms of which the Czar's Government pledges itself to afford all possible assistance to the United States in case this country becomes involved in a war with Great Britain. So far as is known, persons outside the State Department have never had an opportunity to peruse this important document. There seems to be little doubt of its existence, however, in some form.

According to a report quietly circulated by the St. Petersburg authorities if they failed the compact to be still in force, and has received an affirmative reply. It is further said that Breckinridge has communicated information to this effect to Secretary Olney.

Officials at the State Department will not discuss the subject. Officers of the Army and Navy claim to have positive intelligence of the existence of an agreement between Russia and the United States, and attach great importance to the alliance. They say that in the event of war the flower of the Czar's navy would be sent to American waters, and that the Russians would be delighted to combine their fleet with that of this country in a conflict with England.

The officers contend that the confidential compact was made during the War of the Rebellion, and there is evidence on file in the State Department showing that the agreement has been renewed on several occasions since through this country's diplomatic representatives at St. Petersburg. With Russia's best ships added to those of this country in service and undergoing completion, and taking into account the fact that Great Britain must maintain a strong squadron in the Mediterranean and Chinese waters, naval officers are of the opinion that the allied fleet would prove an antagonist not to be despised, even by so formidable a maritime power as England.
